'Enthusiastic Learners showing Pride and Respect'

Key Stage 2 Statutory assessment Results 2016

In 2016, for the first time, Key Stage 2 (Year 6) children were assessed on an interim assessment framework issued by the Department for Education, based on the new National Curriculum, which demanded significantly higher expectations. The Key Stage 2 tests were not only much harder, but their implementation was phased-in over a short period, with children having less time to study the coverage. As a result, despite focused learning and teaching and progress made, our children did not all reach the standards expected, when compared to national data, which is an outcome of changes to the National Curriculum and a resetting of the expected standards.
